

What scares you the most 3

It is Halloween. The city is filled with masked kids, decorated store windows and all sort of things that follow a Halloween season. There is one old creepy house, that belongs to a company now called "Halloween Stars", so they decorate it and scare people there. You can visit the house, for money of course. Christian, an associate in that company led a group of people who bought tickets for a tour in the house, and narrated them ghost stories there.

He started: "Ok, since you visited the house, now it's the time for some tales!

One man started a bookstore business near his house. One day, in a store window someone has painted: "You will die in three days", with giant letters. The man called the police, and they came quickly, but couldn't determine who did it. He cleaned it. The next day was the same: "You will die in two days", then the next day: "You will die tomorrow". Police officers told him that they were patrolling his street and didn't notice anyone.

Nothing happened the day after. He woke up normally. When he visited his store, that time it was written in same glass: "Now go back to your house". When he came back to his house, in his bedroom, he saw himself lying dead on the bed! How he died and who wrote that on his store, and why, that remains unknown."

"Kids were riding bicycles around their town one morning. Suddenly, they saw one clown near a forest. His face was painted in white and he had black and white circus clothes. He cheered them from the distance and told them to follow him through the forest if they seek fun. Then he ran away in that direction. Kids tried to follow him and after five minutes, they exited the forest and saw a small circus with a luna park. They spent a great time there. Some people were there as well, although they didn't know anyone. Nobody even told them that circus was near the town. Then they came back home after sunset. Their parents were searching for them with the police. They asked the kids where they were for hours. Kids explained them about the circus and luna park.

Then the police officers told them that that was impossible as that circus hadn't been working for 15 years! One clown dressed in black and white clothes was mad and therefore he set dynamite and destroyed the whole place, killing all the people inside! Since then, all was left in ruins there!"

Then one boy, pained as zombie told to Christian and people:

'Ok, how about hearing a real story about this place? A long time ago there lived a maniac. He had a secret room in the basement, and now it is hidden with a wall. There, he kidnapped one boy and killed him. Then, he put a wall. Soon after that he started to hear voices in his head and committed suicide jumping into the river! And nobody knew this besides him."

Then Christian asked him how he knew that if nobody knew that beside that maniac. Then the kid replied: "Because I am that boy who was killed! My corpse is lying in that secret room!" Then he ran into an unknown room. Christian and others couldn't find it. When Christian reported that event to his company, they went into the basement with the police broke that wall and found the room with many knives, instruments and some kid's corpse!

